

The Real Heroes

I have chosen to do this, to fight for you
We all know you'll be here soon, and I will too.

But now I am here, walking in total fear
Putting my life on hold, to make you feel bold.

The story's to tell, about how we all fell
Someday we will look back, and figure out that one remaining fact

We all needed each other, so we could stop to suffer
Laughter is the true best medicine, not the inventions made by Thomas Edison

What is it we do, you help you.

- By Georgia Till